

Research Question

In what ways could geolocation data be used as a design material in designing a tangible interface used for personal reflection?

Show how location metadata can be valuable for individual reflection on one's life, similarly to a journal