

Audience

HCI Research Designers

metadata as design material slow technology

Contributions

- Show how to make sense of and design with a large and detailed personal location history
- Show working designs that use personal location history to prompt personal reflection
- Construct a design space for how to classify designs derived from location histories